Student Loan Funds Allotted By Federal Government

The U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare announced on February second that Eastern Kentucky State College would receive $4,886 for the college's National Defense Student Loan Fund for use prior to July 1, 1959. The actual cash is expected within three weeks.

The amount to be allocated to the College is slightly less than one-third of the amount requested by the College for the current semester.

The total amount available to students is $5,429, because the College must contribute one-ninth of the amount contributed by the Federal Government. The College's portion for the current semester is $543.

Forty-seven applications have been received and processed in the Student Personnel Office. Loans have been authorized for 34 students. Requests from students amounted to $16,000. If the College had received the full amount of its request, all requests from students could have been met.

Word received from Washington today indicates that an additional amount of approximately $7,000 can be allocated to Eastern if Congress acts favorably upon a special supplemental appropriation now being considered.

Students who graduate in the 1959-60 school year are urged to file their applications during the next few weeks. The College needs to know the approximate needs of students for next year in order to submit a strong request to the Federal officials for next year.

Forms can be obtained from the Personnel Office, Room 9, Administration Building.

Girls Get New Assist. Dean

Mrs. Charlotte Newell Shockley, a graduate of Eastern, has accepted the position of assistant to the dean of women, succeeding Miss Eunice Wingo, who is retiring.

A native of Maysville, Kentucky, Mrs. Shockley received her B. S. in commerce. While a student at Eastern, she was a member of Cwens, Collegiate Pentacle, Sigma Tau Phi, and Pi Omega Pi.

A former Miss Popularity and "Who's Who Among Students in Colleges and Universities", Mrs. Shockley was secretary to the Dean of Women when she was a student on the campus, and following her graduation, she remained as secretary for two years.

Mrs. Shockley began her duties February 1. She will reside in Burnam Hall. Her seven-year-old son, David, will remain with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Newell, for the remainder of the school year.

VOTING FOR MILESTONE ELECTIONS for Miss Eastern, Miss Popularity, and Mr. Popularity will be held in the Recreation Room of SUB on Monday and Tuesday, February 23, 24, from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. It will be necessary to show your ID card in order to vote. Be sure to vote for these representatives of our school.

Miss Wingo Retires

"It is with sincere personal regret that I give up Miss Wingo after the many years I have been associated with her. The highest tribute I can pay is to her rare, indefinable qualities of being a true friend," said Dean Emma Y. Case, as she spoke of the retirement of Miss Eunice Wingo, Assistant to the Dean of Women, which occurred at the close of the first semester.

Miss Wingo has served Eastern many years in a most efficient manner. She came to Eastern in 1924 as assistant to the late Miss Marie L. Roberts, Dean of Women at that time and continued in that capacity when Mrs. Case succeeded Miss Roberts in 1932.

"We wish for Miss Wingo many years of happiness at her lovely home in Greenway with her charming sister, Miss Germania Wingo, who retired last year," concluded Mrs. Case, expressing the sentiments of the multitude of young women who have known the Wingo sisters.

As a small token of their appreciation, the young women of Burnam Hall presented Miss Wingo a lovely gift with best wishes for the future.

Both sisters have made a contribution to Eastern that long will be remembered by the thousands who have passed their way.

Co-Editors Of Progress For 1959-60 To Be Elected

The following people were selected by a nominating committee to run for the office of Co-editor of the Eastern Progress for the year of 1959-60.

The election will be student wide and voting will be in the grille on February 19th and 20th.

Sandy Wilhoite, a commerce major who hails from Erlanger, Kentucky is a sophomore at Eastern. Sandy, a very active girl is Vice President of Cwens, Secretary of the Burnam House Council, a member of B. S. U., the Y. W. C. A., and is serving on the news staff of the Progress. Sandy says "If I were elected Editor, I would try to see that our Eastern Progress expressed the views and interests of the student."

Jean Patterson, a 20 year old junior from Horse Cave, Kentucky is an English major. Her activities include B. S. U., Canterbury Club, Treasurer of the Little Theater Club, Kappa Delta Pi, Progress staff, Vice President of Burnam House Council, Big Sisters, Y. W. C. A., and a member of Cwens when she was a sophomore. Jean was editor of her high school paper and also editor of her year book. Jean says, "I feel highly honored to have been chosen to run for Co-editor of the Eastern Progress. Regardless of the outcome of the election, I hope that we (then entire student body) will work together to make our newspaper, the best college paper in the country."

Martha Bullard, a junior elementary education major from Louisville comments that "If elected Co-editor of the Progress, I will do my best to make your school paper one to be proud of." Martha is Co Vice President of Wesley Foundation, was Treasurer of Cwens her sophomore year, is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, S. N. E. A., and the "Y."

Bailey Pearson, a Richmond, Kentucky, boy with a double major in English and Latin is a member of the Canterbury Club,

Associate member of the Little Theater Club, and is Vice-moderator of Westminster Fellowship. Bailey feels that "It would be with the utmost in pleasure that, being duly elected, I should serve as Co-editor of the student publication of Eastern. I feel sure that we shall be able to present a publication which will consistently and accurately reflect the thoughts of the Eastern student body, a publication tempered only by the scruples of common courtesy, a vital product of fine education."

Mike McGrath, a Bellevue Social Science major is a transfer from a college in San Francisco. Mike, at present is the Co-author of "The Spice of Life" column and a college photographer. He comments that "I would like to see Max Shulman's syndicated column in the Progress since most college papers carry it. I would also like a 'Letter to the Editor' section. Also I would like to see more English majors on the Progress staff and would like to increase the staff."

MARRIAGE CONFERENCE

The second series of the Marriage Conference Lectures will be held in the Little Theater, Monday evening, February 16, from 7:00-8:30. This series, sponsored by the Collegiate honorary, will feature Dr. J. W. Gladden, professor of Sociology and Marriage Counselor of the University of Kentucky.

Debate Team In Debate Tourney

Eastern's Debate Team will journey to Lafayette, Indiana, this week-end, February 13-15, to take part in the Purdue University Novice Debate Tournament. Members of the debate team are: Joe Graybeal, Commerce major from Somerset; Margaret Pope, Commerce major from London; Johnny Coy, pre-law student from Richmond; and Jean Patterson, English major from Horse Cave.

Some fifty schools from seven different states will take part in the tournament. Kentucky schools, other than Eastern, participating will be Asbury College, Kentucky State College, University of Louisville, Bellarmine College, and the University of Kentucky.

Sponsor of Eastern's debate team is Mr. Victor Venetozzi who will accompany the team to Lafayette and serve as a tournament judge. Also chaperoning the team will be Mrs. Inez Livingston, director of the home management house.

Butch Neeld and Bob Burke congratulate each other at the end of the Ping-Pong Tournament. Butch won the Men's Singles and Bob Burke and Glenn Fields won the Men's Doubles. Glenn was unavailable for a picture.

The Debate Team of Margaret Pope, Jean Patterson, John Coy, and Joe Graybeal go to Purdue this weekend.

THE GRILLE

SPACE PROBLEM

Daily, near meal times, the Grille looks like a cross between a New York commuter train and a clothes basket full of kangaroos. We all need close friends in college, but not that close! There's no relief in sight—our enrollment is growing by leaps and bounds, and for some reason, we seem to attract a larger percentage of ardent grilleology majors every year.

One solution would, of course, be to include a second Grille in the lobby of one of the proposed dorms. However, Easterners have always been a gregarious lot. They would much prefer a centrally located recreation spot.

Rearrangement of the existing Grille facilities would seem more logical and a lot cheaper. The bookstore is needlessly taking up some much needed space. The girls' lounge is seldom used except for a cloak room; the boys have a choice between "lounging" on a ping pong table, a pool table, or the floor. Four simple changes would nearly double the useful space.

The first logical step: Abandon the idea of separate lounges. Either knock out the wall between the girls' lounge and the recreation room; or, if this is too expensive, simply move the juke box into the girls' lounge and issue an informal invitation to the boys. The extra space could be used for a couple of ping pong tables.

Step number two: MOVE THE BOOKSTORE. If there is no space in the basement of either Rock or the Ad. Building, then move it into the boys lounge. The boys can lounge about as comfortably on book cases as they can on pool tables anyway.

Step three: Put tables in the space vacated by the bookstore and lengthen the Grille counter to the back wall. Then perhaps it would be possible to eat in the Grille without having to shove stray elbows out of the soup.

Step four: Herd all the rude people who block the Grille doorway into a thousand cattle cars and ship them to Western. Good riddance!

TRASH PROBLEM

While sitting in the Grille on one of my "free" days, I was asked to move quite a few times so Clarence, the janitor, could sweep up the trash on the floor. I'm not the only one who cheerfully complains, but moves. If the trash weren't on the floor, then Clarence wouldn't have to ask us to move.

It is a known fact that the enrollment has increased, but does this mean that the trash on the floor of the Grille should increase also? Rather couldn't we try to be a little cleaner since there are more of us occupying the same space?

It isn't that there aren't enough trash cans because there obviously are. And yet people continue to throw trash on the floors, sail paper plates around, or throw paper wads. It has been suggested that we have open trash cans for these people. They might not set any records, but they might make a good average.

Perhaps we could try having everyone pick up a piece of trash a day (preferably their own) and put it in the trash cans.

Should the Grille be rearranged as mentioned in this column, would it mean simply a larger area of trash?

I'll agree that ashtrays are needed so we can put cigarette butts somewhere besides the floor or coffee cups. But it's doubtful that we will get the ashtrays for cigarette butts, until we use the trash cans for trash.

Behind the Podium

Another semester has passed. Grades have brought satisfaction, surprise, and sadness. These grades are representative of a teacher's evaluation of a student's accomplishment. They do not, in many cases, represent the work done or the amount of learning which has taken place.

There is the notion among many students that the grade of C does not represent a satisfactory indication of potential or development. This notion is erroneous. The accomplishment represented by a C in one class can well equal the accomplishment represented by an A in another class. It is a question of content, expectation, and inclination.

True, a string of A's and B's look wonderfully imposing on a transcript. But when a person leaves an institution of higher learning, he is judged by what he knows and what he can do with what he knows. The transcript merely opens the door for that person who has prepared himself.

A person who works for a grade is a person who rarely has changed behavior patterns. His energies are wasted simply because he prepares for tests and not for the future. The ultimate is a combination of the two with far greater emphasis on the learning and becoming.

Jazz — Living Music

by Tommy Logsdon

Some music is soothing, some is disturbing, some unnerving. Most of it is dead. Jazz is the exception. Jazz is living music.

Jazz is violent. It wraps itself around your neck in a death hug. It gouges your eyes, kicks you below the belt, slams you in the Adam's apple. And just before you lose consciousness, it picks you up off your chair and fractures your skull by smashing you against the floor.

Jazz is delightful. It tickles the back of your neck and sends you into fits of joy. It snuggles itself around your ankles, licks your foot and finally when you can't stand it any longer, it bites your big toe.

Jazz is sultry. It slithers over your shoulder and down to the small of your back leaving behind a path of desire. It slithers around your waist, wallows around your knees, drolls your neck, and at last when you're ready to scream, it drops off and seeks a new victim.

Jazz is the exception. Jazz is living music.

Now and Then

Oh, how you hate to get up in the morning? Well, if it's any consolation to you, Eastern's students had to arise in time for 7:30 classes in 1929.

More surprises! Buy a broadcloth shirt for 98c, ladies' oxfords for only $3.98, and get a haircut for 40c. All these amazing prices were as advertised in the September 18, 1929, issue of the Eastern "Progress."

Yes, times were different then, even to the extent of "trying" girls before a faculty meeting for such horrible misdemeanors as riding from town to Eastern in a car with a b-o-y, horrors!

In this year of 1929, our Hiram Brock Auditorium was being constructed. Some of the freshman classes' resolutions for the new year were: To get thin; to get to 7:30 class within 10 minutes after second whistle, and to study more and eat less.

In that year the paper had an advice to the lovelorn column, called "Margery Mix". Now isn't that just what this school needs? We'll guarantee her popularity. This is one of those letters:

Dear Mrs. Mix:

The other night as my boy friend and I were coming home from the games, the lights on the campus suddenly went out, and we could hardly see a thing. As we were walking along, he attempted to hold my hand and I slapped him. Did I do the right thing?

Modest

Dear Modest:

You did. Next time knock him down with a club. Nothing is too severe for a guy who misses an opportunity like that.

Have you ever sat at a basketball game wondering why someone doesn't come up with a new set of cheers? Well, frankly, neither have we. But one time it came to us in a dream. (We were in geography class at the time). We would now like it to be known to the world that no student at Eastern has an I. Q. of less than 145. Here is the way that true intellectuals should express themselves while cheering their team to victory:

First we present the way clods (people from U. K.) yell and cheer; then presented is the new progressive style.

WE WANT A BASKET!.....Our group should like to be presented with the placement of the ball through the circular hoop which is fused to the large piece of cambium layer thereby meriting us two points!

CHEW 'EM UP, "BIG E"!.....Masticate thy noble adversary, colossal fifth letter of the alphabet!

CRAM IT DOWN HIS THROAT!.....Violently place the ball in his esophagus!!

WE'RE FROM EASTERN

COULDN'T BE PROUDER

IF YOU CAN'T HEAR US

WE'LL YELL A LITTLE LOUDER, etc.....We have been in residence at Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College and could not possibly be of more pride. If this refrain does not penetrate your sense of hearing, then we should be pleased to increase the amplitude of the vibration of the vocal chords, etc.

THE REFEREE IS BLIND!.....The gentleman in the striped shirt has been observed patronizing a Braille library!

HEY, HEY, WHADDAYA SAY

LOOKS LIKE EASTERN ALL THE WAY!.....Prithes, prithes, speak thy piece, it seems as though our chances of losing are beginning to cease!

TWO BITS, FOUR BITS,

SIX BITS, A DOLLAR.

ALL FOR EASTERN

STAND UP AND HOLLER!.....Twenty-five cents, fifty cents, seventy-five cents, a hundred cents. All those with strong ethical reasons for an Eastern victory indicate so by rising on your arches and displaying your pent-up emotions by eliciting a clamorous guffaw!

BOO!!.....Hssssss!!

GROUCHES

(A series of observations which when taken individually, prove very little, but when taken collectively, prove absolutely nothing.)

"Like an orange that turns up juices, social science 100 is a course that's useless."

"The boys of Keith Hall were refused permission to build a horse shoe pit because it would hurt the grass. How is it that the candy salesman is allowed to drive his truck all over the lawns???"

"In order to be even more stylishly dressed, Mr. Flynn is considering patching the holes in his green sweater with cloth from his purple scarf...."

"Most of the male students agree that the 'Science' of Don Juan in Hell is to be commended for his decision to give Mr. Venetozzi the role he deserves."

Someone remarked that taking an active part in most Grilleology sessions requires a vocabulary of only about 17 words. Some talented people make out on just three — "I'll never tell."

Bermudas don't actually detract too much from the looks of some girls. (Girl Hila monsters for instance.)

SKIPPIN' THE BEAT

by Skip Gregory

The Sounds of the Beat Generation

Through the past few years the loud and simple sounds of rhythm and blues have been kicked around and stepped upon by the older generation. Lovers of good music and the tone deaf "old squares" have accused rock & roll of everything from contributing to delinquency to rolling Beethoven over in his grave. So many people have knocked this sound, as a matter of fact, that the young and beat generation has become an almost separate group of people.

Technically speaking, rock and clinches. Usually it's one basic roll is just barely music. It is type of rhythm and three chords composed mostly of worn-out jazz or chord patterns. All that can be said of rock and roll from a musical standpoint is that the slow tunes are slow and the fast tunes are fast. Most recording artists sing or play every tune in the same key, and as a rule, they are not even good musicians.

Rhythm and blues is actually a mixture of hill-billy and native African. The beat is simple and the lyrics strike home, that is they are significant of emotions or experiences that the listener has witnessed. Rock and roll cannot be compared to the classics, or jazz, with which it is often associated, or anything else. That would be like comparing Levi's with flannels; they serve different purposes. It is a sort of folk music for teenagers. It is played for and listened to by teenagers. It is loud and the solid beat is the ultimate for kids to dance to. Today's kids frequently find the stuffed shirts of yesteryear comparing them with the kids of old. "When I was a kid" they say, when actually no one cares what happened when they were young. Parents, grandparents, and fogies try to say that when they were kids that they were nicer, cleaner, and smarter than kids of now days. We know better. Today's kids are tomorrow's citizens and leaders, they listen to rock and roll, and they know they have plenty of time to grow up. While we don't have to like or appreciate this sound of the beat generation, we don't have to scorn it either, just turn it off! I asked a few kids why they like rock and roll, but they couldn't seem to tell me. They just said, "It's easy to dance to" and nothing else. All they know is that they like it. That's all that matters. The primitive sounds of the beat generation may not be a form of art but they like it. As teenagers get older their tastes in music will change. When they are no longer teenagers they will probably appreciate really good music. But until then we must be patient. Almost everybody is a teenager at one time or other.

FUNDS APPRECIATED

President O'Donnell has received information from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency that a contingent reservation of funds in the amount of $1,900,000 has been made in connection with the proposed construction of two dormitories, one to house 200 men and the other to house 200 women, and for 80 student family apartments.

Show Talk

The Little Theatre Club and the Music Club are jointly planning to present two one-act musicals on February 24 and 25.

One of these will be Gilbert and Sullivan's "Trial by Jury". This operetta is a humorous satire on law courts and grand opera. It is to be staged with robes and wigs of the period.

The cast of virtuosos will include: Jack Farley as His Honor, the Judge; Holly Chilton will sing the part of Edwin; Council for the Plaintiff will be played by Larry Looney; and if the Devil from "Don Juan in Hell," Joe Hughes, finds his razor, he will sing the part of the Usher. Prima Donna Leander Tunks will complete the leading roles with her portrayal of Angelina.

The second operetta to be presented is "Down in the Valley" by Kurt Weill. This operetta is based on the life of the legendary Brack Weaver, who has been revealed from reliable sources to be the second cousin of Tim Dooley. At least, these two men met the same fate. "Down in the Valley" is a love story full of passion, mystery, high emotion, and the depths of evil. The modern dance choreography will be under the direction of Carol Loudon, Jim Day, and Barbara Billing. Holly Chilton will also appear in this production as Brack Weaver. Judy Sands portrays the female lead Jenny. Dick Alberg will strum on his guitar and sing the leader. Bob Azbill plays the villainous Tom Bouche. The non-singing roles were awarded to Karl Weddle (Jenny's father) and Allan Alsip and Larry Stanley are both guards.

Upchurch Adds "More" Wood and "Coal" To Fire

The Maroons made the long trek to Murray, Kentucky, on January 12 and put on the greatest display of basketball that an Eastern team has done in years, possibly ever, to rack up their 2nd conference win as they completely dominated a good Murray team 77-69. A happy Paul McBrayer said, "I have never had a team play as well, particularly in the first half." It was beautiful to watch. They played it like the book says. Sportswriters, radio-casters, and fans watched in amazement and Murray President Ralph Wood in a halftime radio interview stated that Murray had not played or seen a team like it in years. President Wood, like everyone else in the gym, was especially high in his praise of Larry Wood (no 'kin), and his masterful handling of the team which itself, did as masterful a job of execution.

Eastern jumped out in front 6-0 in the first couple of minutes and never looked back. Moore, Wood, Cole, and Upchurch teamed up for 18 field goals in the first half on 29 attempts for a blistering 62 per cent from the field and 13 of 15 free throw attempts for 86.6 per cent. Eastern maintained a 13 to 19-point working margin throughout most of the game until the closing minutes when Murray committed several fouls in desperation to get the ball and the Maroons failed to capitalize on the free throws. Wood, in addition to his great job of directing the team, walked off with scoring honors for the night and was also the leading rebounder with 12 recoveries. Larry never missed a shot from the field as he hit 6 for 6, and 8 of 9 free throw attempts for a total of 20 points. Moore turned in another splendid performance with 7 field goals out of 11 attempts and 3 for 3 at the gratis line. Upchurch and Cole, with 14 and 11 points, respectively, Kotula and Wierwille all contributed tremendously to the victory. Eastern, for the game, hit on 30 of 59 attempts for 50.8 per cent, while Murray was marking up a good 40.6 per cent on 26 for 64.

Eastern 93, Middle Tennessee 66
The Maroons took on Middle Tennessee in a bruising battle on Jan. 15 and had little difficulty in posting their 3rd conference win 93-66 as they outscored the Blue Raiders in field goals 37-20 and won the battle of the backboards 80-47. Cole, Kotula, and Moore put Eastern out in front 12-2 in the early stages but the Tennesseans hit a hot streak and took the lead at 18-16 with 7:52 left in the first half. It was short-lived, however, as Larry Wood intercepted a Blue Raider pass and drove in for the layup to get the lead back for the Maroons for keeps. Wood poured in 6 field goals in this half, two of them beautiful tip-ins, and three of them layups after driving through the entire zone. Springgate and Moore added 7 more points to the dressing room at halftime, 42-32. It was Wood, Moore and Springgate again at the start of the second half who built up an 18-point margin within minutes to settle the issue. The Maroons

18 rebounds. He also scored 17 points. Cole scored 18, and Upchurch, who has been a demon on rebounding all season, grabbed 14 as the McBrayermen had a terrific edge in this department, recovering 70 to Tech's 46.

Eastern 86, Morehead 67

With Dale Moore, Larry Wood and Carl Cole clicking masterfully on the fast break and big Bernie Kotula controlling the boards, the Maroons increased their conference lead to a full game over second place Tennessee Tech on Jan. 22 with an 86-67 triumph over the Morehead Eagles. Eastern, trailing by four points with only 8 minutes gone in the first half, put on a terrific exhibition of fast-break basketball and rolled into halftime with a 44-29 advantage. Morehead led 12-8 before a 13-1 spurt by the Maroons moved them out in front 21-13 so quickly that it left the Eagles—and the fans—dizzy. Moore staged a brilliant exhibition of shooting and rebounding in the first half, and left the floor at intermission with 21 points and 13 rebounds. Wood, regarded as one of the nation's leading guards, contributed 22 points, Cole got 16 and Kotula flipped in 10 in addition to leading both teams in rebounding with 18. Moore, the game's high scorer with 28 points, was second in rebounds with 16, and Upchurch added 11 as Eastern controlled the boards, 78-45. Eastern held several 24 and 26 point leads throughout the second half even though McBrayer substituted freely. The starters played little more than a half, as he used his entire second unit throughout most of the final period. Morehead was held to 21 field goals while the Maroons were marking up 34.

Eastern 80, Middle Tennessee 64
After a ten-day layoff because of semester examinations, the Maroons traveled down to Murfreesboro, Tennessee, on Feb. 2, expecting another severe test, but came out with a surprisingly easy 80-64 victory over the Middle Tennessee Blue Raiders. Led by Bernie Kotula, who topped all of his previous fine performances by tossing in 16 points and grabbing 15 rebounds, Eastern outscored the Raiders in field goals 31-15, and had another decided advantage in rebounding, 62 to 43. Moore, who turned in another great job on the boards with 12 recoveries, Wood and Cole all hit in double figures with 15, 14, and 13 points, respectively, even though they played little more than a half.

Upchurch had 8 grabs in 28 minutes of action, and substitutes Bruce Springgate, Roland Wierwille, Larry Redmond, and Ray Vencill all came through in fine style. It was the first action for Vencill in a month, as he has been nursing a knee injury. Middle Tennessee held the lead briefly in the early stages, but when Cole put his team out in front 10-9 with 15 minutes left in the first half, it was to stay. Cole had 11 of his 13 points in this period and at the intermission Eastern was in command 37-28. When play was resumed, it was only a matter of 2 minutes until it was stretched to 47-30 and the issue was never in doubt after that. Middle Tennessee's scoring was evenly divided among its five starters, with guard Don Smith taking honors on 16 points.

Eastern 72, Tennessee Tech 60
The Maroons expected a battle from the fired-up Tennessee Tech crew when they invaded on Feb. 5 and got it, as the Golden Eagles, who still had an outside chance of at least a tie for the conference crown, put on their best performance of the year, according to word from their coaching staff, but Eastern again proved its superiority and marked up its 7th conference win, 72-69. It was actually the Maroons' superiority on the boards that paved the way for the win as each team took 71 shots at the basket, but out of those that went astray including 20 missed free throws by both teams, Eastern recovered 70 while the Techmen were gathering in only 41, almost a repeat performance of the earlier meeting at Cookeville when the Maroons dominated the rebounding department 70 to 46. Jimmy Hagan, Tech's great shooting artist, took scoring honors for the night with 27 points, but Eastern's equally great shooting ace, Dale Moore, had 24 points and pulled off 14 rebounds, 3 more than Hagan could manage. The Maroons' brilliant senior guard, Larry Wood, had 15 rebounds and scored 14 points, and sophomore

Jack Upchurch does a good job of keeping the ball away from the Morehead Eagles.

Jack Upchurch, upon whom McBrayer heaped particular praise for an outstanding performance, had 12 recoveries and 12 points.

Eastern 95, Morehead 77

The bells tolled, the organ played and the band blared in the Morehead Fieldhouse on the night of February 10 as the Morehead Eagles had the stage set for an upset of the invading Eastern Maroons, but the plot failed to thicken, the Maroons missed the cue and merely staged a repeat performance of the January 22nd production Richmond, original cast and all. As the bell tolled, Coach Paul McBrayer's league leading cast acted out a most convincing 95-77 victory to knock the props from under the lofty Eagles.

The Maroons, a little over-anxious in the opening minutes, missed easy shot after easy shot while the Eagles, hitting from outside, were finding the range on every other shot, as they wound up the first half with a 50 per cent accuracy. These McBrayermen, however, who don't know the meaning of the word "quit", chopped away at the lead as a magnificent sophomore by the name of Jack Upchurch, and one of the greatest guards to come down the line in many a moon, Larry Wood, took command of the situation, and took a 44-41 lead to the dressing room at intermission.

After the first four minutes of the second half, the Maroons unfolded their blistering fast break and for the some 300 Eastern students and fans who had followed their favorites to the Eagles' nest, the rest was sheer delight. In a terrific exhibition of rebounding and ball handling, Wood, Upchurch, Moore and Cole soon had built up a 20-point lead as they completely dominated play and gave convincing proof of why they are the nation's 5th best rebounding team, 10th best on defense (and 8-1 in the OVC).

Jack Upchurch put on a terrific performance of rebounding, shooting, ball handling, intercepting passes and stealing the ball as he pulled off 20 rebounds and poured in 24 points. Larry Wood, who has been a thorn in Morehead's side for three years, got away five astounding passes on the fast break for easy buckets and threw in 22 points himself; Moore, Eastern's leading scorer and rebounder, had 20 points and 4 assists, and Cole, who pitched in 14 points, held Morehead's highly touted Herbie Triplett scoreless the second half. Kotula, who pitched in 8 points in the early stages of the game when his teammates were having a little difficulty finding the range, also grabbed 5 important defensive rebounds in the second half when Eastern's fast break started rolling. Eastern dominated the boards, 62 to 42.

The tolling of the bell, if it were designed to unnerve the Maroons, failed to serve its purpose, as they stepped to the free throw line 16 times in the first half and converted all 16. They scored 31 of 37 gratis attempts in all, and shot an even 40 per cent from the field to rack up their 8th consecutive conference win, 95-77.

Maroon Corner . . .

by Larry Knarr

As most Eastern basketball fans are probably aware the Maroons are in the midst of one of their more successful seasons. Coach Paul McBrayer's sharp-shooters have scored seven consecutive victories in the conference. As matters stand at the moment of this writing, the Maroons have a 7-1 OVC record, which is good enough for undisputed possession of first place. The second place Western Hilltoppers, who own a 4-2 loop mark, trail Eastern by two complete games in the standings.

The fine showing of the Maroons, according to Coach McBrayer, is the result of fine teamwork, along with several outstanding individual performances in every outing, and fine support from the bench. The Eastern Mentor also expressed his and the players gratitude for the fine student response. The enthusiasm showed by the student body has been instrumental in the success of the Maroons.

Seniors Dale Moore and Larry Wood appear to be the shoo-ins for repeaters on the all OVC team. Moore's deadly shooting and Wood's sense of edge of their seats all season long. Sophomore play-making have kept Eastern fans on more surprises Carl Cole and Jack Upchurch look like future stars and are already well respected by all their opponents. Perhaps one of the Eastern's biggest assets has been the development of Bernie Kotula as a top-notch big man. Coach McBrayer's confidence in Bernie has really paid off as the 6-8 senior has come through in fine style. When the front-liners tire, McBrayer doesn't have to look far for adequate replacements. Bruce Springate, Roland Wierwillie, Ray Vencill, and Larry Redmond have given the Maroons the depth that a well-balanced team must have.

The 27 points which Jim Hagan scored against the Maroons last Thursday night do not indicate the fine defensive job the Maroons did on him. What it all boils down to is that Hagan, second in scoring only to Oscar Robertson, might as well have been playing guard. Hagan is 6-9½. The 27 points, of which seven were charity tosses, were all made on eight to twelve-foot jump shots. The big man failed to make one tip-in or one lay-up. With Bernie Kotula doing a fine defensive job, Hagan fouled out of the contest with nearly nine minutes remaining. Significant is the fact that prior to Thursday night's game Hagan had been disqualified on fouls only once before all season.

Hagan did manage to snag eleven rebounds. Larry Wood, however, grabbed off fifteen—and Woods is a guard. In all, three Maroons out-rebounded Hagan. Upchurch had twelve and Moore fourteen. On the night Eastern out-rebounded Tech Tech 70-41. Therein lies the story.

Present at the Tech game were the following former Eastern players (now coaches) with their teams: Chuck Mrazovich, Russell Roberts, Roger Geyer, Jimmy Mitchell, and Alex Stevens.

On January 29 during a practice session, the Maroons experienced a close call when a large skylight and part of the roof caved in. Luckily Coach McBrayer noticed that the skylight was buckling and warned the boys in time. Daggers of two-inches thick glass and large pieces of steel rained onto the gym floor. Imagine the tragic consequence if the boys had not been forewarned—or worse still if it had happened while a game was in progress.

The Murray Thoroughbreds invade Saturday night followed by Western on the following Wednesday. Murray has been tough all year as Western always. The Thoroughbreds, who own a pair of wins over Tennessee Tech, are led by Terry Darnall and a promising sophomore center named Peterson. This could very easily prove to be a tough ball game.

Western, led by big Ralph Crosthwaite and Charlie Osborne come to town sporting lopsided wins over La Salle and Army. They were barely beaten by a strong West Virginia five. The Maroons will be seeking to avenge their lone setback in the O. V. C., which occurred in the first loop game of the season at Bowling Green. Eastern played well, but failed to get any help from Lady Luck, losing by the slimmest of margins, 76-75. A bright spot in this game will be that this is the final time that we have to contend with Crosthwaite. He's been remendous against us for the last seventeen years. (Doesn't it seem that long?) Get there early for both games

Redmond is an excellent defensive player, good ball handler, it quick, fast, and has a great eye for the basket . . . He's been in 11 ball games this year for a total of 113 minutes and 40 seconds, and has done a fine job on all occasions . . . He played a little better than 21 minutes against East Tennessee, took 7 shots at the basket and connected on 5, hit his only free throw attempt, had 6 rebounds and 2 assists, for his best performance so far . . . Fans can look forward to seeing more such performances from Larry Redmond in the next two years . . . Larry was all-state at Newport Public.

In two of Eastern's losses this year, Estep, in the closing minutes made beautiful steals of the ball which almost got the Maroons home . . . He played the last 3 minutes of the East Tennessee ket

REX ENGLISH . . . Sophomore . . . Forward . . . 6-3 . . . 190 . . . He continued his scoring last year with the frosh but gave way to Cole and Upchurch in the rebounding department . . . He's a terrific shot from outside and close in, and loves to drive for that basket.

A Winning Swimming Team

Least known, but one of the winningest sports at Eastern, is Coach Don Combs' topflight swimming team. In the past three seasons they have compiled a 10 won and only 4 loss record. So far this season, they sport a 5-1 record. Under the capable guidance of Coach Combs, the number of meets have increased from five to thirteen, which is on the schedule this year.

Despite the loss of several seniors of last year's squad, and during what is considered as a rebuilding year, they have found much fine and consistent winning freshmen support. Although Eddie Hatch, a senior, leads the individual scoring race with 75 points, freshman Bud Hatch, Robert Goes, Robert Will, and Don Giles have supported him with 40%, 38, 30%, and 29% points in our first six meets.

This has been no exception as to records as three of them have been broken. One by a very outstanding midwestern diver, Art Belmonte, a junior from Cicero, Illinois, who set a traffic 224.2 fancy diving pool record. Freshman Bud Hatch has set the pool record for the 50 yard freestyle at 25.1 seconds. Plus, senior, Ed Anderson, who set the team record for the breaststroke with the time of 2:43.7.

The last half of the season will be tough. Despite Coach Combs' feeling about Louisville and Sewanee, we must not take Vanderbilt or Tennessee lightly. Louisville and Sewanee have looked very impressive, Tennessee is unknown, and Vanderbilt has strengthened their squad through some transfers.

The boys have worked hard this season and the record shows the results. Coach Combs and his team wish to express their appreciation for the commendable turn-outs; and to all who haven't seen them in action, an invitation as there is no admission. They have good potential and with these strong freshmen showing the way will provide many a pleasing moment for Coach Combs in the future.

Below is the immediate schedule:

Fri., Feb. 20	Vanderbilt	Home
Sat., Feb. 21	U. of Tenn.	Away

The Opposite Sex

Staff members come and staff members go because the time of graduation waits for no one. This has been the case of the last writer of this column whom we regret losing deeply. Since the responsibility of writing this column has been assigned to me, I hope that I can do as good a job as our former writer. If anyone has any suggestions as to what he would like to see appear in The Opposite Sex, please send the suggestions to Box 106, E. K. S. C. Would you like fashions, society news, quotations, beauty hints? What not.

We wish to bid all of our 1958-1959 first semester graduates farewell and wish them the best of luck in the future. To our new students we give a cordial welcome. We hope that you will find Eastern a home away from home as most of us have done. Do not worry about your mistakes on campus, but remember that everyone has been in your shoes at one time or another.

New students, are you wondering just what sex is considered the opposite sex? It is the female. Although most of us females prefer to be called the stronger sex, we also feel it a privilege to be called the opposite sex. As one saying goes, "Behind every successful man there is always a woman—and usually she catches him." Now, males, do not get upset. The place of the female in the world has been an age-old question to which no one has found a solution. We must agree, however, that both men and women are essential to make this world a happy place in which to live. Henry C. Link said, "This is certainly a woman's world. When a man is born, the first question is, 'How's the mother?' When he marries, everyone says, 'What a lovely bride.' And when he dies, the question is, 'How much did he leave her?'" So much for the controversy; everyone has a right to his own opinion.

Let us continue with an interesting fact to which everyone agrees. February is a month of many holidays, one of which is Saint Valentine's Day, which has been observed for many centuries on February 14. Traditionally it is a day for lovers. Cupid began enchanting lovers 2,000 years before the first romantic Valentine appeared. According to Roman legend he was the son of Venus, Goddess of Love, and Mars, God of War. Back in the Fourth Century B. C., Praxiteles carved the oldest known statue of Cupid. It portrayed him as a beautiful little boy with wings, carrying a bow and arrow.

On this date it is customary to exchange gifts, many of them heart-shaped, as an expression of affection. Friends send cards, flowers, and candy as greetings. In the Fifteenth Century B. C. in England, the upper classes entertained lavishly to mark the occasion and drew lots for valentine sweethearts. The gift-giving customs of the day reached some awesome heights. Samuel Pepys records in his famous diaries that the Duke of Richmond, drawn by a Miss Stuart as her valentine, rewarded the luck lady with a jewel worth $4,000 no mean sum in those days.

Of the several saints named Valentine, the most important were a Roman priest and a bishop of Terni, both of whom were executed in Rome, Italy, in the third century. That their feast day is also of our modern Saint Valentine's Day is related to the Roman spring day set aside for lovers seems merely a coincidence. The origin festival Lupercalia, which occurred on February 15. The Roman spring festival was in honor of the ancient God Lupercus, who was the protector of flocks against the wolves, sometimes identified with Faunus.

Happy Saint Valentine's Day! Have you sent your valentines to your friends?

Parade Rest

During the lull that comes between the last dreary days of winter and the first invigorating days of spring, most every one here at Eastern is recovering from the shock of semester grades or looking forward to the blasts at the beach; but the pledges of Pershing Rifles are having a blast of their own. Initiation time has come again. Most of Eastern's students have seen the uniformed pledges being put through the week of harassment by the society's active members.

The bearers of broom sticks marching guard duty on campus, or the pledges eating "square meals" in the cafeteria are familiar sights once each year. From outside the organization it appears that all the week is for is to abuse a few freshmen and make the military into a slapstick comedy affair.

The week has a better purpose than that, it seems. There are many things acquired by the pledges which will strengthen and widen their views of the military.

Learning to shine shoes and brass is the first big step in becoming a good soldier. Learning to take orders instead of giving them is a must of all good leaders. Learning to be harassed and to adjust without rebellion is a step in self control. Learning the general orders and military code of conduct are two other valuable aids to an aspiring officer. These prementioned statements are just a few of the inside advantages acquired by the pledge.

Young men from over 100 colleges and universities take part in similar pledge weeks each year. Eastern's unit of Pershing Rifles, under the command of Delbert Shouse, has grown in the past four years to be a nationally recognized company. At the completion of the week of pledging under the rule of Cadet Officer Jim Stout, the thirty fellows were formally initiated, and then entertained at a dance in Walnut Hall. The week will long be remembered by each new member as one of the fullest in their college career at Eastern.

PRESIDENT AND WIFE SADDENED BY DEATHS

Both President and Mrs. O'Donnell lost close relatives last week. Mrs. O'Donnell's sister, Mrs. C. E. Deece, of LaGrange, Texas, died January 31 after a brief illness. She is survived by four sons, two sisters and a brother.

Dr. O'Donnell's oldest brother,

James O'Donnell, died February 7 is survived by his wife, two sons at his home in Los Angeles. He and a daughter, three sisters and had been ill only a few days. He three brothers.

Insure Yourself

The recent fire in the stadium dormitory has emphasized the fact that students should have insurance on their personal belongings such as clothing, books, etc.

The College is not permitted by law to carry insurance on property that is not owned by the state.

This means that when students lose their property in a fire on the campus the loss is a complete one unless the student himself has insurance.

This is not a question of whether the College wants to insure the students against loss in a fire. It is wholly a question of not having any legal right to do what the College officials would like to do to protect students against such losses.

Student activity funds were used to pay a small percent of the loss in the recent fire, but there is always a possibility, and even a probability, that there will be no fund available in the student activities account.

Don't settle for one without the other!

©1959 Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company

"L&M is kindest to your taste," says James Arness. "There are two good reasons why I know you'll like 'em. They're truly low in tar, with more exciting taste than you'll find in any other cigarette."

LOW TAR: L&M's patented filtering process adds extra filter fibers electrostatically, crosswise to the stream of smoke... makes L&M truly low in tar.

MORE TASTE: L&M's rich mixture of slow burning tobaccos brings you more exciting taste than any other cigarette.
